SUPERNATURAL FOOD FOR SUPERNATURAL DOGS

See! Hear!!

For Animal Eyes & Ears Only

It's fascinating that there have been entertainment products to occupy the attention of our pets while we are away from the home-sort of electronic babysitter CDs, videos or DVDs-or that we can use to train them, such as those CDs used for birds to imitate through repetition. We thought we'd bring a few to our readers' attention.

Pollyvision-Strictly for Parrots DVD

<http://www.worldparrottrust.org/pollyvision.htm>

Television strictly for parrot viewing has been launched by The World Parrot Trust. "PollyVision: Strictly for Parrots", has been produced to enhance the welfare of captive parrots as part of the World Parrot Day celebrations. The DVD was produced by parrot biologist and WPT Director, Jamie Gilardi. It's designed to enhance the quality of life of the UK's one million pet parrots and 4 million budgies but is freely available by mail order and will work in all regions' DVD players.

The 80 minute film takes viewers around the world to explore the daily lives of wild parrots: preening, calling, eating and flying through the rainforest.

"We wanted to make a film for captive birds. It will fill some of the boring moments in their lives. Parrots are highly intelligent, sensitive and social creatures. They need a great deal of enrichment and stimulation, or they get bored and depressed, and as humans are do, they develop psychological and behavioural problems." says Gilardi.

The film was carefully edited according to parrots' particular interests, visual aptitude and attention span. "We recommend that parrots watch this movie on a flat screen television, as their superior visual abilities mean they suffer the flickering of old TV's much more than we do. That's the best excuse for buying a new flat screen TV....buy it for your bird!"

All profits from the sale of "PollyVision" go to parrot conservation and welfare. To buy a copy of "PollyVision" costs only £ 9.95 which includes airmail shipping from the UK (about $25.50 at current exchange rates). We got ours in under a week.
