Frenemies

Cats, Dogs, And Lessons In Getting Along

Relationships aren't always easy. But if cats and dogs can make them work, so can the rest of us. In Frenemies, the new book by creative partners Kim Levin and Christine Montaquila, we get an inside look at how our furry domestic friends manage to coexist on the same planet—even in the same house—and to live happily ever after.

Kim Levin started her photography career as a pet portrait artist. In 1996, Kim created Bark & Smile Pet Portraits, a full service photography business committed to capturing the essence and unique personality of each animals photographed. Kim has published fifteen books including the best-selling Cattitude and Why We Love Dogs. Urban Animal last featured her insightful PhoDOGraphy book in Edition 17.

Frenemies is published by Stewart Tabori & Chang and is available at good bookstores Australia wide.
