What Lies Beneath

Photos by Brooke Mayo

North Carolina based photographer, Brooke Mayo, takes the plunge and shows us the wonderful underwater world of diving dogs. This curious collection of photographs shows just how animated and fiercely playful these water-loving canines are. Brooke's under-water series has been so well received by photo editors and publications that she will be turning this into a book. We hope you enjoy this view into the watery world of diving doggies.

"You could say my career as a photographer started with dogs. I've actually had an interest in dogs longer than photography, but a series of dog portraits from my uncle really grabbed my interest in capturing a dog's moments with a camera. Combining the best of both worlds, photography and dogs, has allowed me to grow as an artist. A major part of my photography business in North Carolina is weddings, but it's my "Underwater Dogs" project that truly captures my heart. I thrive on the unseen moments underwater - moments that are missed observing playtime above water. Taking my camera below the surface of water has allowed me to explore another world that creates so much joy for dogs. I have a love and admiration for the unconditional acceptance that a doggie friend can share with its owner. I enjoy playing with my own dogs and discovered how their personalities serve as entertaining and heart-warming subjects, but it was while my dogs were splashing through the water that the true spirit and freedom of being a dog was apparent. With my love for dogs, and the ability to capture their joy on film while they hunt for their favourite toy beneath the water, sparked my interest to write a book, Diving Doggies: A Celebration of Play Underwater.
